Mini Bio

Ted Kid Lewis was, in my view, the finest pound for pound boxer this country has produced. He started out as a flyweight, aged 14, boxing at the old Judaeans Club near Cable Street, St George's, and boxed the world over against the very best men at virtually every weight. He also promoted regularly at Premierland in Whitechapel and was a household name through Great Britain.

He won the British featherweight title aged 17 and departed almost immediately to Australia, from where he journeyed to the United States, where he really made his name.
